800th Episode of "Radio-Road-Test" will be broadcast on June 5

Johnson City, NY—The Motor Sports Radio (sm) Network business unit of the PK Communications Co., Johnson City, NY, will reach a broadcast milestone when its 800th episode of "Radio-Road-Test" is released for worldwide broadcast on June 5, 2009.

Broadcast host Paul Kaminski said "The vehicle for this test is appropriate—since it is the one on which a lot of the Ford Motor Company's hopes for future success rely—the Ford F-150 pickup." The F-150 was tested in early April, 2009 in south Florida. Pictures of the vehicle will be posted to the Motor Sports Radio blog (msrpk.blogspot.com) when the program is officially released. However, a sneak preview is available on the Ford Racing website:

"Radio-Road-Test" is a nationally syndicated weekly radio program of driving impressions of American and foreign cars and light trucks. It began its run in national and international syndication on January 28, 1993 and is made available to commercial radio stations on a barter basis. "Radio-Road-Test" is also heard internationally on the American Forces Radio Network, and also available to listeners by weekly podcast.

Kaminski is the News Director for the Motor Sports Radio Network and also hosts its "Race-Talk" weekly program of major league auto racing news, preview, perspective and commentary. More information on the PK Communications Co. and its business units, may be found at its website, msrpk.com.
